A SAD WEEK FOR GENERALS.

The Press Unanimous in Support of Lord Roberts.

LORD KITCHENER SAT UPON.

Africa Reported to Bave Snubbed Him--Spain is Apparently Uneasy about the

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.) London, April 21.-This has been sad week for the British generals. The brewing storm that last week was overhanging their heads, received its electric spark through the publication Lord Roberts' censures regarding the ed in a merciless torrent from the unan-General Buller could find no better way

ANOTHER STORY.

With regard to Lord Kitchener, there is another story current, which insists, that after the Colenso disaster the Queen demanded that Buller be superseded by the conqueror of the Khalifa and that the Cabinet protested, but compromised by sending Lord Roberts as a figurchead. This is considered rather improbable; but, if true, the Cabinet has caught a Tartar in the shape of Lord Roberts.

It is marvelous to note the whole-heartendness of the English public trust in this old general. Not one paper has attached to his criticism of General Buller—his predecessor in the command—one iota of unfairness or self-interest. This, perhaps, is explained by the universal recognition of the fact that the Field Marshall has little to gain by this campaign, and that he gave up all to which long and brilliant service entitled him in order to serve his country. Whatever the outcome of the Boer war, Lord Roberts' name would stand in England's military annals as one of the most successful and best-loved of the most successful and they believe their commander-in-chief in South Africa to be miles above any jealousles or rival-ries that might actuate other generals.

A KING INCOGNITO.

A KING INCOGNITO.

A KING INCOGNITO.

The visit of King Oscar of Sweden to England, though undertaken incognito, has attracted a surprisingly small amount of interest. The spectacle of that monarch—burly, despite his seventy-one years and standing head and shoulders above his fellows—pushing his way past the station barricades to shake hands with the Swedish workmen who had cheered him as he entered the London depot, can for human impulsiveness be scarcely exceeded in the actions of the most democratic the actions of the most democratic ruler. King Oscar is no stranger to England. He has paid frequent visits to this country, and his abilities, as historian and writer upon abstruse subjects, have gained for him honorary degrees from the English universities. Of all European potentates he is probably he most cultured, the tallest and the most impulsive.

AMERICA AND TURKEY.

AMERICA AND TURKEY.

The possibility of trouble between the United States and Turkey has attracted passing comment in England, though the average newspaper reader is much more interested in the Croton Dam riot. In connection with the former subject the Birmingham Post is responsible for the statement that Turkey has placed several important completed before the end of the year, which include better machine-guns than are at present used by any European Power, and 100,000 Mausers, which, immediately upon their receipt, will be delivered to the Turkish First Army Corps.

SPAIN APPARENTLY SCARED.

SPAIN APPARENTLY SCARED.

Spain apparently scared by post-bellum publications showing how many authorities thought the United States would have been well advised imme-diately to attack the Canaries, for Piemier Silvela's ministry is now eend-ing to these islands a number of heavy guns for coast defensive purposes. One of the most frequent arguments heard in English naval circles is that Amer-ion should have captured the Canaries at the outbreak of the Spanish war. CLIFFS OF DOVER.

FOR A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Senator Daniel Again States Plainly His Position on the Question.

Certain Anti-Constitutional Convention newspapers in this State bave ought persistently to produce the impression that Senator Daniel is against constitutional revision. The reason for this is not difficult to understand. The Senator's name is a tower of strength, and designing men have on several occasions endeavored to bolster up a bad cause by using it. But Senator Daniel now, as on previous occasions, sets the matter at rest. He has twice authorized the publication of the statement that he favors and intends to advocate the calling of a convention to revise the Underwood Constitution, and yesterday the Virginian-Pilot received the following letter from him:

United States Senate,
Washington, April 20, 1900.

The Virginian-Pilot Publishing Company, Norfolk, Va.:
Gentlemen.—In response to your favor, I beg leave to say that my view is that we should have a Constitutional Convention, and that it would be appropriate for the work to be submitted to the ratification or rejection of the people, Very respectfully,

JOHN W. DANIEL

A CONVENTION VICTORY.

A special from Charlottesville, Albemarie counity, in which it is claimed that Senator Martin's influence has been exerted against constitutional revision, says:

A stiff light was made in the First, Second and Fourth Ward wards of this city last evening on the Constitutional Convention question. In the Third Ward the vote was unanimous for the Constitution, and Charles H. Walker was elected delegate and John L. Walser was elected delegate and John L. Walser, was elected and please of the convention. In the Second a motion to send delegates uninstructed was defeated decisively, and George Perkins, delegate, and R. P. Valentino, alternate, were elected, and George Perkins, delegate and R. P. Valentino, alternate was defeated decisively, and George Perkins, delegate and R. P. deneral Buller could find no better way to endear himself to the hearts of the people than to request his recall; but no one who knows the Natal commander intimately tells the representative of the Associated Press that he is far too thick-skinned to take such a step, and will stick to his post, despite all criticisms and avalanches of adverse public opinion.

Nor is Lord Kitchener spared in the present outbreak. There is a story going the round of the clubs that the "great man of the Soudan" has been severely sat upon by the "little man of Afghanistan," and specific instances of disgreement between them are quoted. Once, no gossip says, with mysterious references to private letters and such inner sources of information, Lord Roberts felt constrained to put Lord Kitchener in his place.

ROBERTS COMMANDS.

"I wish you to understand," Kandahar is reported to have said to Kharian Harry You are the chief of staff, I don't seek your advice, and I shall decide myself on what is to be done and shall issue my orders accordingly."
No documentary evidence has been obtained to prove the truth of this, and it may be pure invention, but it has already been printed in London, and originated in much the same way as the first stories arose regarding the flascoes of Generals Gataere, Buller and Methuen, which were only too fully borne out by later official and detailed entire of the flascoes of Generals Gataere, Buller and Methuen, which were only too fully borne out by later official and detailed entire out by later official and detailed entire official and detailed entire official and detailed entire official and detailed entire out by later official and detailed entire official and d

Mr. Wyndham's "Cyrano de Bergerae." produced at his London theatre Thursday, is treated somewhat similarly, though in a more kindly vein than "Zaza," the Times voicing the general impression by lamenting the "loss of force and art, which ensues from the translation of French masterpieces."
